Up to Saturday, when the police muddle began to take shape, there were seven faro and several other percentage games running in full blast. They all closed down last night, and it is said among the knowing ones that they will not be opened until the police row is settled. By this transaction the owners of the seven games will lose in the aggregate between $5000 and $5000 per night.

THE ACCUSED TALK.

Alford is not communicative to reporters in general, but is published by a new evening paper as having made a statement to its reporter, who is a crony of the accused men. In this interview he claims that he was employed by Chief Darcy to help that officer make a record—to work up big cases and let the Chief make the arrest and get the glory. He says he wants a fair and open trial, and will clear himself without difficulty.

Moore was seen yesterday by a Times man and/had little to say. He remarked that he didn't know yet what it was all about, but felt confident that right would triumph and that he would come out on top. Chief Darcy said the whole thing was untrue and would be abundantly proved so upon investigation. There was no trouble really. ut condemning the manner in which the

It was reported last night on the streets that Mrs. Hester, proprietress of the Sentous lodging-house, had instituted suit for heavy damages against the Evening Ex-

Yesterday Officers Moore and Alford, who were suspended by the Chief on the day of the Brady exposure, were officially made acquainted with the nature of the charges which have been made against them by the Police Commissioners' secret agents. The charges were prepared in the jury-room of the City Court with closed doors yesterday afternoon. A Times reporter learned that such a move would be made, and asked to be admitted, but the gentlemen making the charges did not care to have them made public until the commissioners meet. The news, however, is of absorbing public interest, and the reporter did not give up. He camped on the trail of the four persons whose affidavits were referred to in these colums last Sunday, and did not give in until he had captured their stories. The first one run down was

"I cannot rest under such charges as have been brought against me by that paper, and I will push the matter to the bitter end. I make my living honestly, and you can say that a mere talk with the manager of the Express will not repair my injuries. I have secured legal advice, and somebody has got to suffer. I prefer not to say just yet what I will do, but I will have my good name vindicated. I prefer not to talk until I have consulted my lawyers." FRED E. ANDREWS,

FRED E. Andrews, whose statement—and presumably his affidavit—is substantially as follows: Moore and Alford, who are recent members of the San Francisco police force, introduced themselves to Andrews in the beer hall next to the postoffice, and informed him that they were on the Los Angeles police force, "but they did not come here for their health." At the time Andrews was with a friend of his named J. E. Boyd. After taking a drink or two, Moore said:
"Boys, what are you doing?" Boyd replied that he was a cashier in the Saratoga restairant, and Andrews told them that he wasked in a real-estate office.
"We will go to the restaurant and see whether you are working or not." Moore and Andrews then went outside of the saloon, when Moore informed him that he would have to take him to the police station and "vag" him, as he knew him to be a pimp. After they had walked a short distance down the street toward the police station Moore said:
"Pete, you will have to come down. You have lots of money, and you will have to talk business."
Andrews: What do you mean?

Andrews flatly refused to give him over $30 to keep from being taken to the City Prison, and Moore marched him down; but on the way made several efforts to get $100 out of him. At the police headquarters he was booked for a "vag," and Moore fixed his bail at $200, which he put up, and the money is still in the possession of the police department, although a complant has not yet been flief against him. Andrews states that he was told that the charge would be withdrawn if he would put up $50; but Henry T. Gage, his attorney, advised him not to do so. He says the Chief has also sent for him, but he has kept away from the police station.

Alford said to the woman: "Can't yong set some money? You must steal. We are not down here for our health." Second-Term Sureties Not Responsible His First-Term Steals—Willing to "Pumple Up" What They Justly Owe.

A meeting of the bondsmen of El Hammond, the defaulting County Tax Collector, was held yestexiay afternoon at the office of L. N. Breed, corner Fort and First streets. C. E. Day presided, and R. A. Ling acted as secretary. The aceting was called for the purpose of hearing the opinions of attorneys regarding the liability of the bondsmen, and for the purpose of taking the necessary steps for a final settlement of the matter. There was no disposition manifested to evade the payment of the amounts for which the bondsmen are liable, but, on the contrary, every one present declared himself perfectly willing to settle up just as soon as ithe matter could be arranged. The only thing was to have the various amounts equitably apportioned, when they will be liquidated. There are thirty-four names on the new bond and thirty-five on the old one. These on the new bond claim that they are liable for only about $4000, the amount alleged to have been defaulted after Hammond entered upon his second term, and that those on the old bond should pay the remainder, about $500.

upon his second term, and that those on the old bond should pay the remainder, about $800.

After some discussion the opinion of Messrs. Chapman & Hendricks was read. This opinion is very full and exhaustive, and is concurred in by Daly & Bearden, McKinley & Williams, Shaw & Dameron, and M. L. Wieks.

It was resolved to secure the opinion also of Judge Brunson, after which the fellowing resolution was adopted as the sense of the meeting:

Resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting that we, the bondsmen of El Hammend, are ready to pay all that we are justly liable for on his bond, towit, all the deficit that accrued during his second term of office, and that the committee are bereby directed todraw up a statement setting forth the amount of said defect, and ask the honorable Board of Supervisors for an honorable settlement, and that the statement be accompanied by the opinion of the attorneys in relation thereto.

The old committee, consisting of Messra, Hinton, Ling and others, was continued to present the matter to the Board of Supervisors, after which the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

CHAPMAN & HENDRICK'S OPINION.

L. Wicks, who has some interests in the matter, and asked his opinion. "The price of lumber in Los Angeles at present," said Mr. Wicks, "is $32.50 per 1000 feet. This is subject to the call of the chairman.

CHAPMAN & HENDRICK'S OPINION.

The following is the opinion in full of Messrs. Chapman & Hendrick on the casa. It is of unusual interest, as a number of nice points of law are considered, and much valuable information is given:

Los Angeles (Cal.), Nov. 15, 1887.

Messrs. R. A. Ling, J. W. Hinton et al.:

We have considered the questions propounded by you concerning your liabilities as sureties on the official bond of Mr. Hammond, formerly Tax Collector of Los Angeles county.

Mr. Wicks, "is $32.50 per 1000 feet. This is out of proportion to and in excess of the prices charged at San Diego and other points, and can only be maintained by combination. The Los Angeles lumbermen, of course, have some difficulties to contend with at San Pedro, but nothing to justify the prices they charge in this cily. As a matter of fact, lumber can be marchased, at San Blego and shipped to this point at a lower rate than it can be bought for here. This is a state of affairs that should not exist. Lumber, by the schoozer-load, is worth from $19 to $20 per 1000, and the Baltons Harbor people will enter into a contract to bring it to this city for $3.30, so you see the price is considerably higher than there is any warrant for Of course, I would like to see it come down, and so would other people who are interested."

as sureties on the official bond of Mr. Hammond, formerly Tax Collector of Los Angeles county.

The facts, as stated by you, are that Hammond failed to take eath of office of his second term within the time prescribed by law. That of the entire amount of his defalcation, a very considerable portion of it arose during his first term. During all the time that Hammond was Tax Collector, both of his first and second terms, it was provided by the statute that the Auditor must examine and settle the accounts of all persons indebted to the county Treasury, and must certify the amount to the Treasurer, and, upon the presentation and filing of the Treasurer's receipt therefor, give to such persons a discharge, and charge the Treasurer with the amount received by him. (Political Code, section 4317.)

It was also provided that the County Treasurer mast receive no money into the treasury unless accompanied by the certificate of the Auditor, provided for in section 4217.

It was also declared that the Tax Collecto should settle with the Auditor, on the firs Monday in every month, for all moneys col-lected for the State or county, and pay the same to the County Treasurer, and should on the same day, deliver to and file in the office of the Auditor a statement under out showing:

MOTT VS. MOTT.

A Celebrated Divorce Suit Awaiting a Decision.

The divorce case of Mott vs. Mott again came to the surface yesterday on a motion for almony, before Judge Cheney. The question was argued and submitted, and a decision will probably be handed down in a faw days. While the action is estensibly a suit for almony, the question really at issue is whether there is now any case before the court. This case is a very old one, standing 120 on the docket of the Superior Court, and some years ago the denurrer to the complaint was sustained. No action was then taken for some time, when the case was revived. There is now some doubt in the minds of the legal fraterity as to whether the case has any status in law, and this was the principal point argued before Judge Cheney Issuer day morning.

A New Way of Doing It.

Adolf Sutro of Sutro tunnel fame, and now a millionaire resident of San Francisco, has inaugurated a new way of securing a railway franchise. Adolf is an old hand at the business of getting to the collar of those in power; and so, instead of following the old and well-marked trail, he has struck new lead.

He wants the city of San Francisco to grant him a city railway franchise, but instead of bribing the Supervisors he boldly plays at the city. In lieu of receiving what he wants, Mr. Sutro offers to give the city 1800 feet on Seven-teenth street—he offers to bribe the city. The Street Committee of the Supervisorial Board has agreed to recomend the granting of the franchise on the conditions laid down by Mr. Sutro. What it cost to fix the committee has not transpired.

Queer Condition-A Growing Question

The wonderful and continuous growth of our Northwestern States and Territories has already placed the residents on both sides of the imaginary line that somewhere divides the American Republic from the possessions of Great Britain and Ireland, in a queer condition relative to their national status and is rapidly forming a problem to be solved in the not far distant future by the powers that be at the court of St James and the Capitol at Washington. From somewhere north of Duluth to the Pacific, there is nothing to denote the dividing line between the countries, and the people round-about the region of the imaginary line are at a loss to know whether they are American or British. For about 1200 miles not even a fordable creek interposes to form, or help form, a natural barrier or boundary. All the watercourses, creeks, lakes and rivers, cross the suppositious fron-tier running perpendicularly or diag-onally to its direction.

The sameness of race, religion, lan-guage, habits and necessities aids in confounding the natural boundary, which, with business and marriage re lations, will be apt to increase the difficulties of final settlement.

Double Dealing.

During the last Presidential campaign Democratic orators laid much stress upon the fact that "fur twentyfive year, nigh on," the business ac counts of the Government had been in the keeping of the Republican party And, shouted the orators, "let us get at the books! And—and, well, we'll show you suthin'."

Well, they got at the books; and from time to time they unwillingly show us "suthin'." The latest is that dished up as follows by the Santa Cruz Sentinel:

that dished up as follows by the Santa Cruz Sentinel:

"The San Francisco land office is now in Democratic hands. Until recently poor men proving up their claims could advertise for themselves and on the best terms they could make. Not so now. The other day William Bradley made a contract with the Sentinel Publishing Company for $5 to insert a land notice, the land described being located in this county. The $5 agreed upon was paid, and T. V. Mathews given the copy to prepare for publication. Yesterday Mr. Mathews informed us that the land office refused to let the notice appear until $10 was deposited with them to pay for publication. We handed the $5 to Mr. Mathews that had been paid to us by Mr. Bradley. In other words, Mr. Bradley is compelled to pay the land office $10 for what he can get printed in this office for $5. The land notices, to the extent of the lands located in this county, should be printed in the newspapers of this county. They have been heretofore, but now in the interest of a job, that somebody may divide with somebody the difference between $5 and $10, they go to a Los Gatos weekly, a paper not published in this county, but in Santa Clara county. Some departments of the Federal Government are rotten to the core and need an Augean cleaning."

Murat Halstead on the Duty of Republi-

At one of the last Republican mass meetings held in Cincinnati before the close of the late campaign in Ohio, Murat Halstead presided, and made the opening speech before introducing

Gov. Foraker.

"No one can be more seriously impressed than I," said Mr. Halstead, on taking the chair, "that there should be friendly relations between people of all the States.

"I was urrent in the days when reconstruction was the duty of the day and business before the country that we should trust the southern people over whom military force had prevailed, and restore the conquered States to full fellowship in the Union upon the broad principle of universal ammesty and impartial suffrages; and by southern people was meant all the people, white and black.

"From the Otomac to the Pennsylvania line, from the Ohio River to the Gulf of Mexico, no colored man's vote was felt against the election of Grover Cleveland, and with fair play for Republicans in that section his election would have been impossible. The change in the enumeration of the colored people, when they were counted as freedmen instead of slaves, gives the late siave States sixteen Re presentatives in the National House, more than the Democratic majority in the body that assembles on the first Monday of next month to make laws for us all. The consolidated South has the advantage of the sixteen Representatives who carry with them the majority of the House, and the remove war legislation from the statute books and war amendments from the Constitution, restore the old Constitution, equalize the blue and the gray as pensioners, and pay for the property in man that was confiscated at the edge of the sword. "We should, indeed we must, as a matter of self-preservation, check this reactionary revolution by the consecutive discomfiture of the Democratic party until their defears conclusive, not in vindictiveness toward anybody, not in discrimination against any section or class of people, but for the general benefit and the common glory."

Despite the stale and foolish cry of rai benefit and the common glory."

Despite the stale and foolish cry of "Bloody shirt!" raised by Bourbon Democrats against utterances such as these, there is sense and statesmanship in the warnings and injunctions of Mr. Halstead. The drift of things in the Democratic camp is toward the very results outlined by the speaker. The logic of southern Democratic teachings falls nothing short of the complete equality of the blue and the gray, coner or later. These southern leaders are fighting to reverse the verdict of history. With them the struggle is to exalt, not to condemn, the cause of the rebellion. Ex-Minister Jackson of Georgia struck the key note of a too wide southern sentiment when, in recent speech, he placed Jefferson Davis above Abraham Lincoln. It was impolitic in him to make such a speech, but it reflected the real sentiment of less candid southern politicians.

The New Sugar Treaty.

The new Hawaiian treaty, or, as it is styled,"the supplementary convention" to the treaty of 1884, has been completed, ratified and proclaimed. The "supplementary con-vention" provides that the reciprocity treaty of January 30, 1875, shall be renewed for seven years from the date of the exchange of ratifications, which must have occurred some time after February 1st and before November 9th of this year, and further until twelve months after one of the contracting parties shall have notified the other of ts wish to terminate the treaty. It further provides as follows:

further provides as follows:
"Article 2. His Majesty the King of the Hawaiian Islands, grants to the Government of the United States the exclusive right to enter the harbor of Pearl River, in the island of Oahu, and to establish and maintain there a coaling and repair station, for the use of vessels of the United States, and to that end the United States may improve the entrance to said harbor, and do all other things needful to the purpose aforesaid." The reciprocity treaty has not been regarded with favor in California. It has been regarded as a convention engineered by the agents of Sir Claus Spreckels, and wholly in the interest of the Spreckels sugar monopoly.

The reciprocity treaty has been

A Kentucky editor, Charles M. Meacham, of the Hopkinsville South Kentuckian, has been making the Southern California coast a visit, and writing some letters to his paper that re fairer than the average. In his letter from Los Angeles he gives a quite clear and correct statement of things generally. We make this extract:

generally. We make this extract:

Nearly everything is higher here than in the East, but hotel rates are reasonable enough. Good board can be had at $7 per week at many of them, and at from $4 to $6 in private boarding houses. The best hotels charge from $5 to $3 a day, and the cheapest restaurants charge 15 cents for a meal.

Kents are very high, but wages are about double what they are in Hopkinsville. Plumbers are paid $7, carpenters $4, masons $5, factory workmen $3 to $44, and common laborers $2.50, and all kinds of workmen are in great demand.

laborers $2.50, and all same in great demand.

Building is very expensive, but a great deal of it is going on. I stood on one hill and counted twenty-five houses in process of erection. On every street buildings of every character are going up, and two half-million-dollar hotels and a fine courthouse with the contracts can be a street as soon as the contracts can be a soon as the contracts as a soon as the contracts are soon a The only serious errors into which this able editor from the Dark and Bloody Ground appears to have fallen are contained in the following para-"If Some of the 700 real-estate agents of the place would quit the booming business and go to building. Los Angeles would be better off by the end of the year."

"San Diego proposes to offset the country advantages of Los Angeles with her magni-ficent harbor, and has entered the contest Southern California will be decided within the next two or three years."

These statements are highly preposterous, and the premises upon which they are founded are shadowy and mythical to the last degree. San Diego and Kentucky, go to! Thou art left—left in the dim and hazy distance far to the rear. Los Angeles is the Jay-Eye-See of the Southern coast.

AMUSEMENTS.

MARGARET MATHER'S JULIET. - Every lover and student of Shakespeare has his own ideal "Juliet," based upon his knowl-edge of the text of the play, upon his temperament, and upon his fancied under-standing of women. But in the presentation upon the stage of the woes of the fair Capulet, one must lay aside, as far as is possible, all preconceived notions of "Juliet's" character, and only judge as fairly and honestly as in him lies, of the "Juliet" as the actress, whoever she may be, shows her forth; of the quality, charm, have any at all.

Margaret Mather is young, beautiful and talented, and when she essays the rôle of "Juliet" it goes without saying that all the world wants to see her try it. One may come away disappointed, another enthusi-astic, but everybody goes—at least "every-body as is anybody" did last dight. Miss Mather's whole performance is so such a matter of beauty of face, ideal grace much a matter of beauty of face, ideal grace of form, exquisite posing and marvelous stage surroundings that her actual merit as an interpreter of character is easily lost sight of in a sense of artistic completeness. One sits and lets the scenes go by as af a dissolving view, a veritable dream of dir woman.

There is no doubt, however, that Miss Mather has improved upon her "Juliet" of a year ago, in reserve, in finish, and even in the uninor details of costume. As her performance now stands, there is a certain completness—with minor deficiencies of course—with it there is a certain completness—with minor deficiencies, of course—which it then lacked. In the first scene, before and after the meeting with "Romeo." Miss Mather is the incarnation of girlish innocence, beauty and love, warm-hearted, warm-blooded, of that perfect southern type, not less chaste because ardent; the girl's heart not less pure because responding sa hotily to "Romeo's" first salute. Here is the best work—or. Derhans, it is nature the best work—or, perhaps, it is nature— and with this scene throughout can no fault be found. In the balcony scene, though still a thing of beauty, disagreeable mannerisms begin to show, and we have presented the eccentric anomoly of an immannersums begin to show, and we have presented the eccentric anomoly of an impetuous, vivacious, happy gir, full of a girl's quips and quirks, who yet drags each word up from deep in her pretty anatomy, and talks to her lover in words of the frankest passion—tumbling, crowding, burning words—made octosyllable by an etrnal drawl. Miss Mather's voice' is sweet; were it otherwise it would here be unbearable; as it is, it is trying. It is in the parting with "Romeo" that the chief gain in reserve and taste is evident. Last year Miss Mather discarded the becoming Florentine hair and cap, and had a quantity of hair—probably indigenous, flowing all over everything, spoiling the outline of her neck and arms, and getting all wound up with "Romeo" in a sad fashion. This time her hair was of a graceful, girlish length, and interposed no barrier to the parting, that was such sweet soriow. Last year again the sobs that racked the parted one were continuous, nerve-shaking and disagreeable, verging dangerously near the inelegant snort of real tears; but, now, used with more caution, they orove "the renovating sight to men" that a protty woman's tears should be.

Criticism aside, Miss Mather's picture of "Jullet," as girl, woman, and faiturid lover, is something to see, to enjoy and to remember. One must not expect to be thrilled, but to have a certain lust of the eye rightfully gratified.

Of Mr. Paulding nothing new peed be gratified.

Of Mr. Paulding nothing new need be said. His strong, manly, powerful acting of "Romeo" is well known, and attracts as many to the play as the star. His performance has lost nothing in force and gained to the star.

In this same category is included Milnes Levick, who does all things well.

Mrs. Sol Smith, as the nurse, wisely discards all of the broader farce of the part, and plays it in a kindly, genial and finished way, almost perfect.

The audience last night was such as the city can always be depended upon to present to a first-class dramatic attraction—nultitudinous, responsive and elegant. It will continue to be large throughout the week. Tonight Miss Mather appears in The Honeymoon.

The Interstate Commission at Work -Important Supreme Court De-cision-Fishery Negotia-

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The Interstate Commerce Committee today began the hearing of complaints in the Standard Oil cases. These are complaints of George Rice of Marietta, O., against a number of railroads, alleging discrimination in favor of the Standard Oil Company, violations of the lower and short Company; violations of the long and short haul provisions, and unreasonable and un-just rates. The proceedings are likely to consume several days.

The complaint and reply of the Lonisville and Nashville road was read. The company makes a general denial of the charges of violation of the long and short haul provis ons, and the alleged discrimination is ex-plained upon the theory that the Standard company furnishes its own tank cars, while ompiainants ship in barrels in the com-pany's cars, thereby creating a substantial inference of circumstances and conditions.

pany's cars, thereby creating a substantial difference of circumstances and conditions. A DECISION REVERSED.

The Supreme Court today reversed the decision of the Circuit Court in the case of the Colorado Coal and Iron Company et al., appellants, against the United States. The object of the suit was to declare void patents for 9566 acres of land in Las Animas county, Colo., granted some years ago to the Southern Colorado Coal and Iron Company, which afterward consolidated with the Colorado Coal and Iron Company, which afterward consolidated with the Colorado Coal and Iron Company. The latter company procured a mortgage for $8,500,000 on the property, for which the Government charged that it was a gigantic conspiracy, that the original entries were fictitious, that the alleged preëmptors never lived in Colorado, that the register and receiver of the land office connived at the fraud. The Supreme Court in its decision holds that the evidence shows fraud upon the United States sufficient in courty as against the parties perpetrating it, or those claiming under them with notice of it, to justify the cancellation of the patents is used to them, but that there is no such 'fraud as to prevent the issuance of a legal title by patents. In the opinion of this court the Government has not conclusively shown that the alleged preëmptors were fictitious, nor are the facts sufficient to overcome the presumption of innocence on the part of the register and receiver of the land office. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—[Special.] Since the arcest of ex-Inspectors Ciprice and Boyd, for fraudulent dealings in Chinese certificates, several stories of recklesness and extravagance have been circulated which do not redound to the latter's credit. LONDON, Nov. 21.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Two bodies of victims of the sushien steamer Scholten have floated schore at Deal. There is now no doubt that Capt. Taat went down with the steamer. Mr. Robson, one of the passengers saved, stated to a reporter that the Scholten had just weighed anchor when the collision occurred. There were 800 lifebelts on board and most of the passengers were supplied with them, but they proved useless in a majority of cases, as the people were engulfed with the ship. The steamer's deck burst when she was foundering. The suniken vessel lies in twenty fathoms of water. The survivors will sail for New York Wednesday.

WHAT THE AGENT SAYS.

NEW YORK, NOV. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] In an interview with the agent of the Van der Forn line, he said that he did not believe the stories that the crew of the steamer Scholten sought their own safety, leaving the passengers to their fate. When asked why only two of the ship's lifeboats had been launched, the agent said the lifeboats were swung on daylts amidships, three on either side. Two of those on the port side were crushed. The water as it rushed into the amidship compartment gave her such a list to port, that her starboard boats could not be launched from that side. One of them was subsequently launched and the lashing of the others was cut in the hope that when the vessel went down they would float, and possibly some passengers, who might' be floating in the water, might thus be saved. The Scholten sank quickly, because the break was in the engine-room, which is the largest compartment. She was one of the best vessels in the service of the company, and was built with seven water-tight bulkheads. She was valued at $40,000, and was insured for $175,000. She had a very valuable cargo. The total value is estimated at $800,000, most of which is covered by insurance.

The Board of Managers Receiving Offers of Sites in the Northern Citrus Belt-Many Places Urge Claims

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The Board of Managers of the Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers met today for the purpose of considering a site for the location of the Home in California. Offers of sites were received from Haywards, Oakland, National City, Yountville, Petaluma, Mark West Springs, Santa Rosa, Sonoma and Sacramento.

The list of sites was taken by Gen. Mc-Mahon, secretary, and the towns were called alphabetically. Thomas Teller of Haywards, first on the list, had a ranch of 403 acres for $30,000. Dr. Ray Smith and Recorder Hines offered 245 acres northeast of Oakland, with an abundance of water and some excellent quarries of building stone, for $75,000. The National Land and stone, for $75,000. The National Land and Town Company of San Diego offered to donate 160 acres near National City, or 320 acres near San Diego.

President Wagmire of the board of directors of the State Veterans' # Home offered as a donation the present property of the home, 900 acres near Yountville, Napa county. He offered the place as a gift, not because the directors are tired of caring for the old soldiers, but because they are satisfied that the veterans can be better cared for by the Government. The only condition of the transfer would be that the soldiers should be cared for by the managers.

Congressman Morrow called attention to the fact that this offer was presented to Congress before the $150,000 proposition was made, and was the one thing that induced the passage of the bill for the establishment of a branch home west of the Rockies.

Petaluma submitted three or four tracts, one of 500 acres for $25,000.

Gen. Vallejo offered 200 acres near Sonoma for $125,000.
E. Boyd had seventy-five acres near Agua Caliente. A. Abbott would sell 1000 acres of land near Sacramento for $200 per acres.

to the town having the home located near it.

Over $2,000,000 is expended annually at the homes cared for by the managers.

Monterey offered 200 acres of Government military reservation. Eight of her citizens named her attractions and resourcef. All that was necessary was an appropriation by Congress to grant the managers land in the reservation. The Withers place, of 140 acres, was offered for $25,000.

Dr. McPherson represented a committee of Santa Cruz citizens. Henry Hight offered three tracts at $15,000, $70,000 and $35,000, respectively. This last tract contained 1000 acres, and was seven miles from the coast.

The managers then held an executive session, but nothing was decided upon further than that they will visit the State home at Yountville tomorrow. It is understood that a land organization of San Bernardino will effer to donate 400 acres and give in addition $25,000 if the home be located at the latter place.

BASE-BALL.

Averages of the California League for the Past Season. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—[By the Asso ciated Press.] The official averages of players of the California League for 1887 has been completed, and the best batting averages for the season are those of Van Haltren, 477; Hardie, 370, and Nick Smith, 307. Smith is the winner of the handsome Morrison medal, offered by Lewis Morrison, the actor, to the player having the best batting average for the entire season, for though his average is lower than that of either Van Haltren or Hardie, he played through the entire season, while they played only a few games, and the league officials justly decided that he was more entitled to receive the medal than either of them.

SINGULAR DISASTER.

on the Mexican Central.

Et. Paso (Tex.), Nov. 31.—(By the Associated Press.) Harry Townsend, killed n the accident on the Mexican Central on Saturday night, was buried today. Mr. Hall, a passenger on the wrecked train, says that there were twenty-four cars in the train, thirteen of which were loaded with oil, the remainder with grading outfit des-tined for the Mexican National Railroad, tined for the Mexican National Railroad, for which Townsend had a contract. On rounding a curve within three miles of Salailayuca, the engine struck a cow, and the train, with the exception of the engine, two coal ears and two flat cars, was derailed and demolished. Townsend, who was sleeping in one of the cars, was erushed to death. An Italian named Lauruetlo was thrown a considerable distance and injured internally. A number of horses and mules were killed. The strangest part of the affair was the fage that the engineer was not cognizant at the time of the disaster that had befallen his train, but ran the engine and four cars to Samalayuca, three miles distant, where he missed his cars and telegraphed back to Paso Del Norte that he had lost part of his train.

r Work, but No Men to Do It

Reports recently sent abroad by labor mion papers to the effect that the labor market in this city, Los Angeles and outhern California generally was overweded and wages low has had the effect of raising the indignation of contractus and others, who, owing to the baneur of the feet of the reports, are unable to cet a full complement of men. In increase, and others, who, with a number of leading outlders, employment agents and others yets with a number of leading outlders, employment agents and others yesterday, figures were given showing that the wages of carpenters and other skilled laborers in this city are in divance of the rate paid in San Francisco and other parts of the State, and figher a great deal than the eastern schedule.

Said one builder: "You can publish righer a great deal than the eastern schedule.

Sald one builder: "You can publish the fact that San Diego wants all the carpenters it can get. The large amount of projected building requires them. Many residents are deterred from building or account of the scarcity of labor. The haste that all ewners demand in the erection of all buildings also helps to increase the difficulty. A building that is put together in a few weeks requires almost double the number of workmen. The scarcity of carpenters has discouraged me from taking any more contracts. I have more work now than I can possibly get men to do. The greatest demand is for men who can do bench work and finishing, but rough carpenters are also scarce. Wages range from $3.50 to $4.50 a day."

"Six good carpenters wanted," was the sign in front of the office of Clements & Stannard, architects. Mr. Clements add: "We do not pretend to run an employment office here, but we put up those signs to accommodate the contractors who want workmen. I do not know of one contractor who is not complaining on account of a scarcity of carpenters and other workmen connected with building. Each of them want from six to twenty hands immediately." "It is certain that if we had mere arrenters, bricklayers, plasterers, etc., unding operations would be pushed till livlier than they are," said E. G. feGuire, of McGuire & Co., employment agents. "Bricklayers and masons re paid from $5.50 to $5 per day, and hey have more work than they can do. Ye need more good workmen and they cem rather slow in coming. PLUMBERS SCARCE.

"Yes, there is at present a pressing demand for good workman in our line in this city." remarked a prominent plumber to the reporter. "We are doing a great deal of the very best class of work, and first-class workmen are required. At no time recently in this city has the supply of good workmen been equal to the demand."

"I can tell you why it is that so few carpenters and builders are coming from the East to take positions here, remarked a well-known contracter. "The union men have sent communications to Chicago and other places telling men that there is no work here, and othenwise misrepresenting the facts. They seem to fear that if more workmen come here wages will go down. Many of them are actuated by even smaller motives than that. I know of one gang of men who sent a discouraging letter to eastern unions, simply because the had a personal relevance against a contractor. All hese misrepresentations, of course, have their indusance on eastern workmen. It is my opinion that workmen. are their influence on eastern work-en. It is my opinion that workmen ere have nothing to fear from compe-tion. Five hundred more carpenters suld come here and find employment rithout any material reduction in rages. By all means, laborers of all inds should be encouraged to come are."

"It is certain that a man who is out of work in this city now does not want work." said Mrs. K. M. Curtin, employment agent. "I have orders for fity carpenters for one employer in his city. Common laborers, and pick and shovel men for digging excavations, are also wanted at $2.25 a day. They can have all the work they want, and there has not been a time in the ast six months that there has been mough of them to supply the demand. We want carpenters, plasters, masons, gricklayers, lathmen, plumbers, painters, etc. If the demand in this city was the only one to be supplied, there would not be so much difficulty, but the lemand from neighboring towns is also daily increasing. Carpenters, masons, bricklayers, etc., are wanted at National City, Chula Vista, Oceanside, Coronado and other points. As the rear advances the demand for laborers is becoming more and more urgent. NO EXCUSE FOR IDLERS. ar advances the demand for laborers becoming more and more urgent. oed waiters for hotels and restaurants e also in great demand. First-class en have no difficulty in obtaining esitions at $40 a month. Girls for ormary housework, without washing, ceive from $25 to $85 a month. There an urgent demand for them and sey should be encouraged to come."

He Thought She Proposed to Him.

[New Yark Sun.]

There is a great deal of fun in every nook and corner of Cornell's University just now over an incident which occurred there this week. At the beginning of every term an alphabetical list of students is issued by the registrar, giving the residence of each person enrolled in the university. Occasionally a mistake is found in this list. Several days ago one of the sage college ladies, of prepossessing appearance, in looking over proofs of this year's list of students, detected a slight error in her name, and hastened to the registrar's office to correct it.

"Are you engaged just now?" was the first question asked the registrar, who was in blissful ignorance of the ladies' mission, and whose mind, evidently, was wandering in matrimonial channels.

"Ne, indeed," replied the gallant channels.

"No, indeed," replied the gallant official, with some little emphasis, his face at the same time becoming the very embodiment of great expectations and pleasant anticipations of the approaching leap year.

"Well, then, I should like to change my name," said the fair visitor, with a bewitching smile on her face.

"The you would!" gasped the young man, his countenance radiant beyond all expression.

And then the young lady undertook to explain matters more in detail, much to the great discomfiture and mortification of the assistant, whose hopes blossomed, bloomed and were blasted in the short space of a minute.

n THE TIMES announced, a week when THE TIMES announced, a weep go yesterday, the presence of a coal fam-ne in this city, certain amateur journals ried to make out that the statement was ried to make out that the statement was emsational and untrue—in fact that coal ras plenty here. Every day since matters are been arising to prove the assertions of his paper correct; and the unhappy sheets bove alluded to have been obliged to edge and hedge, until now they begin to death that there is and was a coal familie. it that there is and was a coal famine alter S. Maxwell, the heaviest coal ler here, has claimed that there was no ine. His is the only yard that has had right along. He is now in San Fran-trying to charter vessels to bring coal British Columbia to Southern Califrom British Columbia to Southern California.

His steamer Southern California, which is still discharging part of her cargo at San Diego, and was to have been up here last Wednesday night, cannot get away from there in time to reach San Pedro before Thursday. She has now discharged about 500 tons at San Diego. The momentous difficulty with the Coast Seamen's Union at San Diego and San Pedro is again pinching things, and Capt. Raiss explains the delay by telegraphing that the steamer is in the hands of the union. She will bring 1200 tons of Wellington coal to San Pedro when she does arrive. A PHASE OF THE FAMINE.

It is an old phrase of sporting men that "money talks," and money certainly does talk plainly as to whether there is a coal famine here or not. There was a long, joud how! among the retail coal dealers yesterday when Mr. Maxwell's notice was served on them that they would have to pay $16 per ton for coal unscreened and on the cars! Kleks and protests began to pour in thick and fast, but Mr. Maxwell had the market by the short hair, and kicks were of no avail. What coal Mr. Maxwell has was shipped down here from Saw Francisco by rail. It is claimed to have cost $10 per ton in San Francisco, and $6 per ton freight charges. A TMEs representative called yesterday afternoon at Mr. Maxwell's office, and in his absence talked with Eugene, his brother and foreman, and Charles A. Baskerville, his manager. They were considerably exercised over the delays and inconvenience caused by the action of the coast, seamen, who have been running things with so high a hand. When asked as to the price of coal, Mr. Baskerville said: "Yes, we are charging the dealers $16 per ton for unscreened coal on the cars. It is Australian coal. That is just what, it costs us, and we do not make a cent. The retail price is $17.50 a ton, and the dealers can make a fair margin at that. But a large part of what they sell is in 100-pound sacks, at $1 per sack—so you see they are making $4 per ton, even at present prices. They are kicking because we will not let them raise the retail price. What do they want? The earth? We will not have the retail price raised. We can't. What would people do if coal went any higher? So we have to stand howls from both dealers and consumers."

"Well," asked the "Exist man, "what is to be the outcome? Giving you credit for a proper amount of philanthropy, it isn't to be supposed that you are going to keep on selling coal at a loss, or at cost. Is it your intention to submit to a little loss now to help the public out, anticipating relief from the famine in a short time? Will the arrival of your steamer when help in proc It is an old phrase of sporting men that 'money talks," and money certainly does alk plainly as to whether there is a coal

He said the would like tog to work if he could get out, and was very naxious about a few trifling articles which he left at the police station. Mayor Workman returned from San Francisco Sunday night, where he had been on a short business trip, and was seen at his office by a Times reporter yesterday morning. The reporter told him that he was not expected back so soon, and asked him if the recent developments in police circles had not hurried him up. "No, I can't say they did," replied His Honor. "I heard something about the matter before I left, and thought it would come out sooner or later."

"You were not taken by surprise, then?" remarked the reporter.

"You were not taken by surprise, then?" remarked the reporter.

"No, I can't say that I was. The police commissioners will have a meeting tomorrow atternoon, when the whole matter will be investigated and sifted to the bottom."

"It hink it is an assured fact. From the way in which Mr. Roser takked when here I think his report will be favorable, and that arrangements will be made to commence work in a short time. Of course, Mr. Roser did not say anything direct, us he is a noted expert sent by eastern capitalists to examine the ground and report to them, but from his general conversation, I inferred that he was favorable to the project."

"Yas your trip to San Francisco in the interest of the road?"

"Yes, partially. I had other business there, however, which occupied the greater part of my time. There is nothing of public interest just at present regarding the road."

"How is the work of the sewer commission progressing?"

"Yery well. They have been delayed experts of the road."

"Very well. They have been delayed somewhat on account of profile maps not being ready, but Mr. Eaton is rushing these, and I expect a report in the course of a few days. We are going as fast as possible, and there will not be a day's unnecessary delay."

The Richmond Alarm. Griggs of the Richmon W. F. Griggs of the Richmond Fire Alarn Company yesterday appeared before the Council with a proposition to make a number of important improvements in the system from an open to a closed circuit, and will substitute the spring for the weight movement in the gongs at the engine-houses. The cost of these and other proposed improvements will be about $3000, which expense will be borne by the company, and they will be made without a dollar's cost to the city. There is no intention of insulating the wires, as it is unnecessary. This is all there is in the mater, the unisrepresentations of the Express, as published last evening, to the contrary notwithstanding.

It is perfectly clear from Mr. Marshall's letter that the appearance of the swindling ad. is not to be charged to him. The ad. is a stereotyped affair and came to Mr. Marshall in a patent outside furnished by a San Francisco house. The Providencia paper publishes numerous articles proving its hostile attitude toward town-lot faker and other land swindles.
